DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The corrected or substitute drawings were received on 2/19/2003. These drawings are approved by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ham(5,903,420).

Ham teaches in figure 7 and related text a method of increasing the holding voltage of a LVTSCR like structure comprising providing an alternative current path from anode to cathode through a p well of the structure, defining a lower resistance current path than the p well and takes the form of at least one p region and n region defining a p-n junction diode 40, 42 formed in the p well and being forward biased during normal operation.

Art Unit: 2811

Regarding the claimed limitation of a p-n junction diode being forward biased during normal operation, this feature is inherent in Ham's device because Ham's structure is identical to the claimed structure.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant argues that Ham teaches a p-n junction diode being reverse biased during normal operation, whereas the claimed invention recites a p-n junction diode being forward biased during normal operation.

Ham teaches a low resistance current path through a p-n junction diode in the p well. A low resistance current path is a forward biased current and not a reverse biased current. Therefore, Ham teaches a p-n junction diode being forward biased during normal operation, as claimed. Furthermore, Ham's structure is identical to the claimed structure. If the p-n junction diode of the claimed invention is forward biased during normal operation, so is the p-n junction diode of Ham's structure.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP §

Art Unit: 2811

706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
